We are nearing the end...

Like all good things, Think Diverse! Project is coming to an end. This final newsletter is a moment for us the partners to rejoice the time spent on this work, and to rethink about the project, what came out of it and what can be done in the future individually, or collectively.

The spirit of TD was not intended as something to be consumed during its implementation. On the contrary, it was studied to be the backbone structure of a possible creative approach to diversity in all of its shades.

The partners' hard work paid off and new methods have permeated the whole approach to the project, as it's showed by the brilliant synergies of the meetings where tables became fruitful forges of ideas, by the exhibition and impro-shows organized to replace traditional events, by the final debriefing carried with the theatre improvisation method and by the immersion into the intercultural diversity carried out during the last meeting in Paris, during our walk through the monumental representations of different cultures.

All those moments were festive both for partners and for participants, who had the occasion to plunge in the Think Diverse! Spirit.

Thank you all for being with us in the last two years, it's been an honour and a pleasure to involve you in Think Diverse!

In the next pages: highlights from the project.

Our Meetings

Meetings are a vital part of Erasmus projects. Think Diverse! was carried out during the COVID period, so meeting each other was not easy, but with a lot of effort we managed to stick together and complete all the planned meetings.

Seeing each other in person is essential for exchanging impressions, experiences, getting to know each other better and understanding each other's point of view. In Think Diverse! all this was emphasised by the awareness of how important it is to value diversity.

Our Results

Having reached the end of the project, we are proud to present our results once again:

The Creative Toolkit contains a methodological introduction on Creativity, 3 Creative Sets, a Creative Sets User's Guide.

The Creative Sets are fully modular training practices, dedicated to raising awareness on Cultural, Religious, Gender, Sexual, Mental Diversity. The proposed videos and exercises/games aim to dismantle stereotypes that make acceptance of diversity difficult.

The Handbook on Diversity contains the results of research on diversity management in Europe and specifically in the 3 project partner countries. The Handbook also contains the results of the evaluation of the Toolkit as a result of the piloting carried out by the partners.
